The easiest and most efficient means of controlling THRIP is to dust the foliage of the plants with 5% D.D.T. Best results will be obtained when the dust is applied to the plants while the dew is still on them.

When you send your order for bulbs, send us Two names of your friends, who are interested in growing glads and we will include 2 extra bulbs, to pay for your trouble. The two bulbs will be labeled and something different of what you order. No bulbs will be sent for names without an order. Please write plainly. Thank you.

TERRACE GLADIOLI GARDENS
Stevensville, Michigan

SOIL—Gladioli do well on most any soil that will grow corn or potatoes. They should be planted in the open where there is plenty of sunshine and a reasonable amount of moisture; poor soil should be improved with a good dressing of well-rotted manure. If manure is not available, you may use commercial fertilizer on the surface, along the rows during the growing season. Fertilizer should be kept from direct contact with the bulbs. Good cultivation will help retain the moisture. Watering should be thoroughly once a week, rather than sprinkling daily.

PLANTING—Upon receipt of bulbs, open package to permit air and store in a cool dry place until planting time, usually when the Maple trees begin to leaf out in your vicinity. Make furrows 5 to 6 inches deep for large size bulbs. 4 to 5 inches deep for medium size. Plant bulbs 6 inches apart, or regulate distance depending on space and number of bulbs you have.

TREATING—Most growers treat the bulbs before planting against Thrip and Scab, by using Corrosive of Sublimate or Lysol. We use 1 oz. Corrosive of Sublimate to 4 gal. of water and soak the bulbs for 3 hours. For most amateur growers Lysol is probably the easiest and most satisfactory dip. 4 tablespoons Lysol to 3 gal. of water. Soak bulbs 5 hours, then plant immediately.

SPRAYS—Inasmuch as there is a possibility that Thrip gets into your garden and your plants may become infested during the growing season, it is advisable to spray when plants are eight to ten inches high, with some good insecticide. Tartar Emetic, or DDT, are recommended. Thrip is a small insect that feeds on the sap of the plant, and later gets up into the buds.

FLOWERS—If you cut the flowers, leave about four leaves on the plant to mature the bulb. Place the cut flowers in a deep vase, with at least ten inches of water, cut off a small portion of the stem and change the water daily. Treated this way, every bud on the stalk will open perfectly in the house. They keep best in a cool room.

HARVESTING—Early planted bulbs can be dug 30 days after blooming time. All must be taken up before ground freezes. Cut the tops off close to the bulb. Pruning shears are best for this job. Place bulbs in shallow trays so they dry thoroughly. It takes about four weeks to cure the bulbs enough to take off the old bulb and roots. After cleaning, store in trays not over 3 inches deep—in dry, cool, frost proof place. Scatter a little 5% D.D.T. Dust over them, one tablespoonful per 100 bulbs.

Dear Friends:

We are glad to send you our latest revised list. You will find the most outstanding exhibition and commercial varieties in the various price groups.

We wish to thank our customers for their liberal past patronage and hope we will have the pleasure of serving you again.

Gladioli bulbs are graded into six sizes. Most growers list, No. 1 and 2 as Large. No. 3 and No. 4 as Medium. No. 5 and 6 as Small. We list only the Large and Medium size. Large size are  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inches in diameter and larger, or 4 to 6 inches around. These will bloom the earliest and often make two flowering spikes. Medium means bulbs are  $\frac{3}{4}$  to  $1\frac{1}{4}$  inches diameter or  $2\frac{1}{2}$  to 4 inches around, these make one flowering spike and come into bloom a little later. For long season bloom, plant both sizes.

If you are not familiar with the varieties or not interested in the names, order one of the unlabeled collection offers, which we have arranged to give you a variety of color—and the most for your money.

Bulbs are fully guaranteed, field and storage inspected. If for any reason you are not satisfied after you receive the stock, return it and your money will be refunded. Due to soil and weather conditions, we cannot assume any responsibility as to growing results.

Orders for $1.50, and over from this list will be sent prepaid in the U.S.A. Postage rates and other expense have advanced, so please do not send orders for less than $1.50. And please do not order C.O.D. as it increases our operating expenses and costs you an additional C.O.D. fee.

Place your order soon as possible, bulbs will be shipped when weather permits. All stock offered and orders accepted subject to prior sale.
